The Horrors of Vesuvius.

Terrifying news has reached Naples from points throughout the district surrounding Ottajano. Reports indicate that an enormous area is buried beneath the ashes and cinders.

Twenty-six more dead bodies have been found in the church of San Giuseppe, making a total of 79.

The fate of many children at Ottajano is unknown. When the military carts arrived at the scene of the disaster Monday night the soldiers arranged to have the children and aged persons, get into the carts, but when the vehicles had gone a few hundred feet it was found that, although there were four horses harnessed to each wagon they could not pull their loads through the deep ashes. This caused a panic among the children, who expected to be buried in the shower of ashes, and they fled in all directions in the darkness and blinding rain, and have not since been heard of. Searching parties went after the children, but in spite of continuous shouting and calling no trace was found of them, and it is feared that the children have been smothered in the ashes.

The scenes at Ottajano when the first victims were unearthed there were most terrible. The positions of the bodies showed that the victims had died while in a state of great terror, the faces being distorted with fear. Three bodies were found in a confessional of one of the fallen churches. One body was that of an old woman who was sitting with her right arm raised, as though to ward off the advancing danger. The second was that of a child about 8 years old. It was found dead in a position which would indicate that the child had fallen with a little dog close to it and had died with one arm raised across its face to protect itself and its pet from the crumbling ruins. The third body—that of a woman—was reduced to an unrecognizable mass.

These three victims were reverently laid side by side, while a procession of friends and relatives offered up prayers beside them. Other bodies which were found later caused such an impression among the already frantic population that the authorities did not deem it advisable to permit any more bodies to be identified for the present.

Many tales are told of heroic rescues by soldiers sent to the assistance of the sufferers from the volcanic disaster at Ottajano and elsewhere.

Professor di Lorenzo, the scientist and specialist in the study of volcanoes, estimated that the smoke from Vesuvius has reache the height of 25,000 feet.

The statement is made that in the vicinity of Ottajano, cinders and ashes from the volcano lie to a debth of 150 feet.

Political Policy of Labor.

If the action in Washington Monday night of the Central Labor Union meets with the approbation of the other central bodies throughout the country, there will be established in Washington a labor legislative committee to look after all matters of legislation in Congress affecting labor. The proposed committee will be composed of a representative from each of the 559 central labor unions in the Union States. The matter came up before the meeting Monday night, and the central body unanimously passed a resolution, offered by President Adams, instructing the secretary to send a communication to the various central unions throughout the country inviting them to have representatives on the committee.

The American Federation of Labor yesterday issued a circular letter to all trade unionists of America quoting in full the recent list of grievances adopted by the executive council of the Federation and presented to Speaker Cannon, Senator Frye and President Roosevelt, which, it is stated, "is expressive of the decision which organized labor of America has made manifest in its various conventions and union meetings." The letter of President Samuel Gompers accompanying that document concludes as follows:

"Let the inspiring watchword go forth that we will stand by our friends and administer a stinging rebuke to men or parties who are either indifferent, negligent or hostile, and, wherever opportunity affords, so secure the election of intelligent, honest, earnest trade unionists, with clear, unblemish, paid-up union cards in their possession."

The political policy of the American federation of labor, as set forth in the circular, is as follows:

"That as our efforts are centered against all forms of industrial slavery and economic wrong, we must also direct our utmost energies to remove all forms of political servitude and party slavery, to the end that the working people may act as a unit at the polls of every election. The American Federation of Labor most firmly and unequivocally favors the independent use of the ballot by the trade unionists and workingmen, united regardless of party, that we may elect men from our own ranks to make new laws and administer them along the lines laid down in the legislative demands of the American Federation of Labor, and at the same time secure an impartial judiciary that will not govern us by arbitrary injunction of the courts nor act as the pliant tools of corporate wealth."

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by Gibson and Timberman and W. F. Creighton and Company.

Can you believe your senses?

When two of them, taste and smell, having been impaired if not utterly destroyed, by Nasal Catarrh, are fully restored by Ely's Cream Balm, can you doubt that this remedy deserves all that has been said of it by the thousands whom it has cured? It is applied directly to the affected air-passages and begins its healing work at once. Why not get it today? All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York, on receipt of 50 cents.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 11, 1906.

IN THE greatest speech of his career, Senator Bailey, of Texas, delivered yesterday his forensic broadside on the rate bill. He had promised to discredit Senators Knox and Spooner as lawyers and statesmen. The effect upon the Senate was evidence that at least he had overwhelmed their efforts. So complete was his refutation of their proposition that Congress, while having the power to confer upon or withhold from the courts jurisdiction, cannot also declare that the courts shall not issue injunctions in specified cases, that Senator Hale rose in his place and declared solemnly, not as one carried away by enthusiasm, but as one convinced by incontrovertible facts and logic, that the argument of the Senator from Texas could neither be answered nor disputed. It was one of the few speeches the Senate has listened to that actually affected votes. It was made plain as Mr, Bailey proceeded, from the manner in which the Senate hung upon his words, that the whole situation was changing, until with his conclusion and the outburst of enthusiasm which followed—an outburst the Vice President did not attempt to check—it was felt that he had made the adoption of his amendment to the rate bill not only possible, but exceedingly probable. As to Senators Knox and Spooner, great lawyers as they are considered, the man from Texas showed that they either were unfamiliar with the authorities or misrepresented them.

MOUNT VESUVIUS is still causing death and destruction in the vicinity of Naples, and no little concern is felt in that city, although it is nine miles away from the crater. It is reported that two thousand persons have already lost their lives and that eighty million dollars worth of property has been destroyed. Today's dispatches show that the end is not yet, as the volcano is as active as ever and that lava is running down all sides of the mount. Thousands of human beings are fleeing for their lives and the misery of the unfortunates is increasing hourly. This is the second terrible convulsion of nature which has occurred during the past four years, the other having been the destruction by a volcano at Martinique in one night of more people than there are in Alexandria.

J. G. WHITELY, Consul General of the Congo Free State, emphatically denies the statement of the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, of Boston, made in the New York Tribune Monday, that, according to the report of the Congo Commission of Inquiry, in six months, 6,000 right hands were cut off from human beings. This statement, which has been copied by many papers,, is declared to be absolutely false. The spirit of exageration seems to be abroad and is confined to no class of individuals. It seems strange, however, that preachers would wish to convey the impression that affairs in the Congo are worse than they really are.

FOR THE past thirty-five years the government of Great Britain has owned and operated the telegraphs. At the time they were taken they were paying private owners a profit of $1,710,000 a year. The correspondent of the New York Times shows that "last year there was $4,610,000 excess expenditures over receipts, besides $1,358,50 in interest on the purchase money, making a net loss of $5,968,500." All of which, says the Philadelphia Record, goes to show that about the worst possible management of public service utilities is government management.

ALTHOUGH Easter is but a few days off there has been little, if any, egg "picking" among the boys so far this season. Indeed the old time games seem to be losing favor with the boys of the present generation, who evidently desire something more strenuous. It is safe to say that not a dozen kites have been flown in this city this year; but little top spinning, while marble playing is confined to comparatively a few. Hoop rolling is almost a thing of the past, though some of the younger girls still amuse themselves with rope jumping.

THOSE who have been urging popular choice of United States Senators as a cure for all the ills the State is heir to should take notice of Arkansas. That State has just had a popular election to nominate a candidate for senator, and now after the defeat of one of the best men in the State and one of the safest in the Senate there are impassioned charges of fraud and what not else. Politics is politics, whether in the legislature or at the hustings.

Judge Edmund Waddill, of the U. S. District Court, has appointed D. C. Richardson a special master to take testimony and report damages, if any, to the water mains and pipes of the city caused by stray currents of electricity from the wires of Richmond Traction Company. The city alleges damage to water mains and pipes to the extent of $170,000.

From Washington.

Washington, April 11.

It is yet too early to accurately gauge the effect of the remarkable speech made yesterday by Senator Bailey on his proposition that the courts shall be prohibited from suspending railroad rates fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission during litigation regarding them. He has undoubtedly converted some of his democratic colleagues and at least one republican, Senator Hale, but the opinion is divided as to whether he has rallied enough to carry his amendment. Senator Hale, who is recognized as a leader on the republican side and who publicly announced his own conversion to Bailey's idea, said after the Senate adjourned that the Texas Senator had convinced "a considerable element on the republican side." On the other hand some of his party colleagues say that Mr. Hale was speaking only for himself.

Representative Reynolds, of Pennsylvania, has obtained from the War Department permission for the Fredericksburg Battlefield Memorial Commission to erect in the Fredericksburg National Cemetery a monument and markers to the Pennsylvania regiments, comprising Humphrey's division, which made the charge at Mayre's Heights, Va., on December 30, 1862. The Pennsylvania legislature last year appropriated $22,500 for the erection of a suitable monument to Humphrey's division on the battlefield of Fredericksburg.

President Roosevelt shook hands this morning with Katherine Elizabeth Morris, granddaughter of Senator Clark, of Montana. The little girl is three and a half years old and is, probably, next to John D. Rockefeller's grandson, the richest child in the United States. "Katherine has wanted to meet the President for a long time" said Senator Clark, "and not long ago dictated a letter to me from Camden, South Carolina, asking if she came to Washington would I introduce her to 'Teddy.' I wrote back I would be glad to do so, and so here we are." Senator Clark was accompanied to the White House by Katherine's father, Dr. Louis R. Morris, of New York.

President Roosevelt has denied a pardon to Prof. A. W. Malehow, the Michigan educator who is under sentence of two years in the penitentiary for writing and distributing an obscene book. Instead of pardoning him, the President said that after reading the book he regretted that he could not sentence Malehow to a term ten times as long as he is now doomed to serve. The book that the professor wrote is a work on sexual subjects, ostensibly written for the use of physicians, but in reality containing nothing of interest as a text book and so framed that it panders to the vilest passions.

The big drydock Dewey again has given Capt. Hosley and the members of the expedition that is towing her to Manila a bit of trouble, the craft having broke adrift in a storm in the middle of the Mediterranean sea, between Malta and Messina and was notmade fast again for nearly twent-four hours.

Judge E. H. Gary, of New York, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation was heard today by the house merchant marine and fisheries committee, as to the price of steel products that go into the making of ships. He denied the statement of Vice President Wallace of the American Shipping Company, that the steel trust last year shipped large quantities of plates abroad for $24 a ton, while they sold the identical product in this country for $32,

The Census Bureau today issued a report on the slaughtering and meat packing industry of the United States, showing that in the past five years the number of establishments have increased from 921 to 929; capital invested, from $189,198,264 to $237,699,440; number of wage earners, from 10,227 to 12,075; wages paid, from $33,457,013 to $40,447,574; and value of products from $785,562,433 to $913,914,624.

An exciting encounter between two members of the House—Small, of North Carolina, and Macon, of Arkansas—enlivened the proceedings this afternoon. Macon arose to complain that in the reports of his controversy with Small yesterday, the newspapers had favored Small's side. Mr. Small sought to interrupt and Mr. Macon waved him aside. "You are no gentleman", he shouted. "I guess I'll be able to survive your imputation," retorted the North Carolinian, as he took his seat.

Representative Charles A. Towne, of New York, delivered an eloquent speech in the House of Representatives yesterday in support of the Jamestown Exposition. It would be difficult, he said, to overestimate the significance of the event it is proposed to celebrate. Citing the great events of American history, the struggle for liberty, and the progress of the republic, he said no one could say how much of that in which we take pride would have been had not our early history been made by precisely the men who did make it.

Smuggled goods of considerable value, which were brought to San Francisco on the battleship Oregon, were seized by the United States government inspectors yesterday at a local freight shed. Among the goods seized were pieces of valuable silk, many curios and expensive China sets, along with high priced specimens of ivory. The custom house officials are pursuing the inquiry and expect to make other seizures. They have sent telegrams to many places asking that suspicious packages be intercepted and held until an investigation of the contents can be made.

Rear Admiral James H. Sands, Superintendent of the Naval Academy, was at the Navy Department yesterday in consultation with Secretary Bonaparte and other officials with regard to the final interment of the remains of John Paul Jones. It is understood that the passage of such a bill would meet with the approval of Admiral Sands as well as Secretary Bonaparte.

M. P. Conference.

The reading of the plan of appointments by President Little, and the announcement of a total increase of $20,092 in the collection for the benevolencies of the churches in the district for the past year were the features of the closing session of the Methodist Protestant Conference last night at West Baltimore Church. There was a number of changes this year.

Among the appointments were the following: Alexandria, J. H. S. Ewell; Fairfax, R. S. Litsinger; Fredericksburg, Clayborn Phillipps; Newmarket, A. S. Beane; Potomac, C. M. Zepp; Quantico, N. V. Cossaboon.

A resolution was adopted prior to adjournment requesting the board of finance to investigate the present schedule of assessments, to see if they are on an equitable basis. The report of the committee on Sabbath observance, among other things, condemned Sunday excursions and Sunday sacred concerts.

The pleasant feature of the day was the report of the committee on official character, which produced statistics to show that 82 charges in the district had met their entire assessments for the benevolences of the church, which was said to be the best report that has ever been rendered the body. It was reported that some of the ministers had even sacrificed portions of their salaries in order to bring the Conference assessments up to the full amount.

The temperance report was vigorously discussed and several of the ministers made able addresses, in which they made reference to the fate of the home rule bill, which died on the files of the recent legislature.

VESUVIUS STILL ACTIVE.

Two Thousand Persons, it is Believed, Have Perished--$80,000,000 Worth of Property Destroyed.

Naples, April 11.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which has already cost hundreds of lives, driven thousands of persons from their homes and wrought untold havoc and destruction, is again in full blast. The violence of the volcano seems to exceed that of previous days and the alarm among the people of the entire region is consequently very great.

With the temporary lull which came for a short time yesterday, when the suffering victims of the eruption had an opportunity to catch a fleeting glance of the sun through a clear sky, the hopes of the populace were aroused to believe that the worst was over and that in a few days, at the most, the volcano would quiet down to its normal condition. Now that the physical gloom has returned, shutting out the sun from view and filling the air with poisonous fumes, the hopes of the people have naturally sunk again.

The violence of the volcano seems to be increasing. The showers of ashes are falling thicker than ever, and they are falling over a widely extended area.

The town of Ottajano has been completely abandoned by the former inhabitatnts and the lava, ashes, and sand have been given a free hand to work the destruction of the remaining houses and devastate the surrounding country in their own way. At Torre Annunziata, on the other hand, affairs are resuming their normal condition, so far as is possible after the destruction which has been wrought. At Bosco-Trecase lakes of lava have formed in the village and in the surrounding country.

Many tourists are arriving here in order to witness the spectacle of the most active eruption which has occurred in many years.

As additional reports in regard to the disaster arrive the number of casualties steadily increases. It is now estimated that at least 2,000 lives have been lost as the direct result of the eruption. Already 800 bodies have been found and every hour adds to the number. The damage to property and the loss caused by the devastation of great tracts of fertile lands, where the vineyards have been permanently destroyed is estimated at fully $80,000,000.

News received today tells of the havoc wrought at Sarno, an industrial centre to the eastward of the volcano. The town has been overwhelmed by the cinders and lava. The village of San Gennaro has also been wrecked by the streams of lava, which have invaded the hamlet. The lava is now attacking the town of Torre del Greco to the southwest of the volcano. The houses there are slowly being destroyed, collapsing as the burning flood reaches them. Many deaths are reported to have occurred at both Sarne and San Gennaro.

At Somma the cinders and ashes lie in the streets six feet deep, and at San Giuseppe debris from the volcano reaches to the third story of some of the houses. Over 100 bodies have already been recovered from the ruins of the church which collapsed and the market house in this town.

One of the saddest features of the catastrophe is that the suspension of railroad traffic makes it impossible to bring the bodies of victims to the city for identification. It will be necessary to bury hundreds of bodies in the small villages in nameless graves.

The unearthing of victims who have been covered by the rain of ashes and cinders, or who were found in ruined buildings, show that most of them died deaths of agony, as terror and pain are depicted on their features now set in death. The attitudes of others, some of whom were found kneeling in prayer, show that they were killed by the deadly fumes from the volcano.

The rescue work is being pushed as rapidly as possible, but the difficulty of moving from place to place, and even of forcing a passage through the streets of the various towns, because of the depth of the ashes, makes progress very slow. Some terrible sights have been presented to the rescuers and in other instances they have been able to bring timely assistance to persons who were just on the verge of collapse or death.

Reports brought by members of rescue parties and by soldiers who have been engaged in this work are ghastly in the extreme, but even their tales fail to adequately depict the situation, and it is probable that the real story of the horrors suffered by the volcano victims will never be told.

Naples, April 11.—The lava is again on the move on all sides down Vesuvius, and it is believed this city is in serious danger.

Advices received report that at Somma fifty houses and portions of three churches have collapsed. The town hall also is threatened with destruction.

Refugees who continue to arrive in the city say that the Houses in Ottajano, which suffered severely from the flow of lava, and the showers of ashes and cinders, are still falling. In all the other towns and villages in that neighborhood the buildings are either in ruins or are tottering.

Reports from Castellammare, fifteen miles southeast of this city, which stands at the foot of the hill on which was located the Stabia, near which the elder Pliny lost his life in the eruption of A. D. 79, say that railroad trains arrived there at frequent intervals all last night and this morning bringing thousands of refugees from Torre del Greco. These refugees were covered with dust and were in a pitiable condition. They say that a terrible hurricane burst upon the town, and this was accompanied by a rainstorm in which water fell in torrents. There were also showers of stones which were as large as eggs. The municipality is housing and feeding these refugees.

The fall of ashes and cinders continues in Naples without cessation. Many houses are falling today under the weight of the accumulated debris, as the market house collapsed yesterday.

Since 8 o'clock last night the city and the whole surrounding country has been immersed in gloom. The clouds of dust completely shut out a view of the heavens. Business has been brought to a standstill because of the prevailing gloom in the city and most of the shops are closed.

The great Galleria Umberto Primo, the famous Naples gallery, has been closed, as it is feared the weight of ashes and cinders on the roof will cause the structure to collapse.

Fewer Gallons; Wears Longer.

Fewer gallons; takes less of Devoe Lead and Zinc than mixed paints. Wears longer; twice as long as lead and oil.

A tremendous torrent of water and stones is now being belched forth from the side crater of Vesuvius toward the interor of the peninsula and this is even more dangerous than have been the ceaseless showers of ashes and deluge of stones. It is impossible to tell yet what damage has been wrought by this new prank of the volcano.

Reports from Somma, Nola, and Ottajana say that fresh earthquake shocks have been felt this morning, adding to the horror of the situation.

Ottajano has been absolutely blotted out of existence by the eruption. Two hundred and fifty corpses have been found there already. The village of Hoggio Marino is also buried in cinders The lava flowing down the southern slope of Vesuvius has reached Pompeii and threatens a repetition of the historical destruction of that city.

Trouble is threatened in some of the stricken villages by the difficulty of procuring food and the fact that prices have gone up alarmingly since the eruption began. At Agovasova serious demonstrations have already occurred as the thousands of starving villagers are greatly agitated over the increasing prices of provisions. Military reinforcements sent there found the town a perfect inferno. One demonstration was caused by the employees of a large tobacco factory who refused to work because they feared the roof of the factory would break owing to the accumulation of ashes. The workmen rushed into the street where they held an excited demonstration. Men from other factories joined them and there have been disturbances all day.

By the steady exposure of the people to the ashes and dust which has fallen in Naples many persons have been rendered totally blind.

The mental depression of the people keeps pace with the physical gloom which hangs over the city. The refugees from stricken towns who are here are engaged in parading the streets praying aloud and bearing lighted candles, crosses and pictures of the saints in the procession.

Rome, April 11.—Prof. Matteucci, who is in charge of the observatory on Mount Vesuvius, telegraphed at ten o'clock this morning that everything now is tending to reduce anxiety.

Miners and Operators.

New York, April 11.—The counter-proposition of the anthracite operators that the anthracite strike commission consider only two of the miners' demands; namely, rates of wages and an adjustment of complaints by the board of conciliation, will be rejected by the mine workers in its present form. The counter proposition of the operators included many restrictions and limitations that are altogether objectionable to the miners.

The miners' scale committee meet today at the Ashland House to consider this latest reply of the operators to the demand for arbitration, and it was indicated this morning that a counter-proposition will be drafted which will be presented to the operators at the joint meeting tomorrow.

The operators say today that the situation is with Mitchell and his men, and upon them depends whether or not there shall be peace in the hard coal industry.

The miners point out that the operators, by astute working of the proposition that the anthracite strike commission be requested to arbitrate the situation, have lost to the miners one member of the commission who was a great friend of the mine workers—Bishop Spalding, of Peoria. The bishop has recently suffered severe attacks of paralysis and is consequently unable to serve.

A clause in the operators' proposition prevents any one from serving in Bishop Spalding's place, and as the Bishop was appointed on the commission by President Roosevelt at Mr. Mitchell's request, they think it only fair that the President be asked to appoint some one in his place. This request will doubtless be incorporated in the miners' counter-proposition.

Verdict of Acquittal.

Saluda, S. C., April 11.—The trial of State Senator Eugene S. Bleaso, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Joe Ben Coleman, ended late last night, the jury returning a verdict of not guilty. Bleaso and Coleman married sisters. The tragedy occurred in October last. Bleaso, on the witness stand, told, in tears and sobs, of his friendship and love for Coleman, their associations for many years; his exertions to secure Coleman a position, and then the ruin of his home. The defendant swooned as he was leaving the stand. He was carried to a room adjoining the court room, where he remained during the arguments, attended by a physician.

Jumped from Bridge.

New York, April 11.—Nathan Isaacson, of No. 66 Rivington street, Manhattan, at 8 o'clock this morning, jumped from the centre of Williamsburg bridge into the East river. Isaacson landed within ten feet of the ferry boat New York and was taken from the water in an unconscious condition by the crew who caught him by his clothing, with a grappling hook. Isaacson was removed to the Williamsburg hospital, Brooklyn, where it is believed that his condition is hopeless. He received internal injuries of a most serious nature, striking the water on his back. Isaacson is said to be a well-known socialist of the East side.

Freight Steamship Sunk.

Bridgeton, N. J., April 11.—The freight steamer Florence, plying between this city and Philadelphia, was run into by another steamship last night, in Delaware Bay, off Salem Cove, and sunk, together with a large cargo of merchandise including several horses. The crew escaped by aid of small boats. The Florence is owned and operated by the Philadelphia & Bridgeton Transportation Company. The loss will be heavy.

Dowie a Sick Man.

Chicago, April 11.—John Alexander Dowie, formerly Prophet of Zion, is a very sick man. Immediately after he had held a long conference with his attorney today he professed to be much encouraged. One Chicago vaudeville manager offered the prophet $25,000 for six months of "lectures," four a week, he to choose his own topics.

State Sustained.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

The Supreme Court today handed down a decision sustaining the State at every point in the land assessment cases and upholding the validity of the laws brought into question. This decision ends the matter and validates the assessment made all over for 1906.

Atmospheric Phenomenon.

Paris, April 11.—An atmospheric phenomenon which has been noticed here today has been freely commented upon. A thick haze like that of a winter's fog has obscured the horizon, although the day is warm, and it is attributed to the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. A yellow tint has been noticeable on the horizon in a line similar to that which has been identified with the phenomenon of previous eruptions when volcanic dust has been carried through the upper stata of the atmosphere traveling vast distances.

Robbed by Revolutionist.

Warsaw, Poland, April 11.—The pupils of the Kostroma High schools took from the head master of the schools 2,000 roubles intended to pay the teachers, saying that the money was wanted for the revolutionary cause. The students learned that the money was in the possession of the head master and they attacked him with revolvers, forcing him to surrender it. Several arrests have been made, but the money has not been recovered.

New York Stock Market.

New York, April 11.—The stock market had a firmer tone all through the first hour and prices of nearly everything traded in advanced one to two points over yesterday's closing figures. The trading was similar to that of yesterday, the supply of stocks being scant, with a quiet demand. The commission house business was small and without significance.

Deed of a Crazy Negro.

Peter J. Hill, a Prince George county, Md., negro, who is supposed to be insane, ran amuck at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, near Petersburg, chased his wife and two little children away from home in their night clothes, followed them through the woods half a mile to the home of Hon. Timothy Rives, who for years was judge of the County Court for Prince George county, and set fire to Judge Rives' home. The woman and children had gone to Judge Rives for protection. Just as they knocked at the door Hill reached them and they took to the woods again.

Hill did not pursue his wife and children, but instead broke open a front window and door of Judge Rives' residence, and called to him that he would cut his (Judge Rives') d——d throat.

Judge Rives came out of his house in his night clothes and shoeless and went over to the home of Mr. Nash, a neighbor, about half a mile distant, and informed him what had occurred. Judge Rives and Mr. Nash then ran back to the house, only to find it in flames. Hill had set fire to every room in it and it was entirely destroyed, with its contents. The house was valued at $4,000, on which there was no insurance. In the building were legal papers valued at $6,000 and $2,000 in money, all of which fell a prey to the flames. There was also an iron safe in the house filled with valuable legal papers, which are supposed to have been more or less damaged by the fire. Hill was arrested yesterday and a commission will be held to inquire as to his sanity.

Senator Bailey's Argument.

As stated in the Gazette of that day, Senator Bailey made a notable speech in the Senate yesterday in defense of his theory that Congress has the authority to forbid inferior courts to grant interlocutory decrees.

Senator Bailey contends that Congress has the right to provide that no court, except the Supreme Court of the United States, shall have the power to suspend an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission until the case has been settled in the courts.

He asserts that Congress has the power under the Constitution to create, regulate and abolish inferior federal courts, and can, therefore, control their procedure.

Senator Rayner in his speech declared that the rate bill would have to contain a court-review feature in order to make it constitutional. But he suggested that this be limited by prohibiting the courts from suspending orders of the commission pending final decision by the courts.

The validity of this proposition was attacked by Senators Spooner and Knox, and Mr. Bailey's speech was in reply to their contention that Congress could not limit the jurisdiction or fix the procedure of the federal courts.

Mrs Savage Wins.

The Supreme Court of the United States on Monday denied a writ of certiorari brought in the famous Joseph and Ralph Savage case. Virginians, and especially residents of Winchester, are well acquainted with the many legal steps that have been taken in this case by Joseph and Ralph Savage and by Ida Savage, wife of Ralph.

In 1897 or 1898 Ralph Savage married and in a short time a divorce followed in connection with the proceedings for alimony. In order to secure this alimony to his wife Ralph Savage executed a deed of trust on real estate worth $3,000 to her. He then failed to keep up his payments of alimony. The wife then came in with a claim for past due alimony and for future alimony as well. Joseph Savage meantime opposed the action of the divorced wife and asked for a writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court of the United States. This has been denied and the effect is the wife will receive full pay as alimony for several years out of the deed of trust executed in her favor by Ralph Savage.

The body of John Bothwell, an American sailor, was found floating in the harbor at Antwerp this morning It is thought that he fell from the dock while intoxicated during last night and was drowned.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in Philadelphia which began yesterday continued today. A feeling of insecurity as to the extent of the investigation was evident among the railroad men. The surprise culminated a half hour before the commission session opened. United States Marshals, accompanied by Mr. Glasgow's assistants, called at the offices occupied by White and Passmore, and served them with subpoenas to appear forthwith before the commission, which they did.

Frederick T. Hounoger, 50 years old, convicted of arson, committed suicide last night in the city jail by cutting his wrist with the sharp edge of a foot rule.

Police Commissioners.

Another meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners was held last night in the office of the Paff Shoe Factory. All the Commissioners were present, together with Commonwealth's Attorney Brent, and Mayor Paff presided. The board is engaged in holding these adjourned meetings for the purpose of examining the record of each member of the police force, and with this end in view they are summoning witnesses who appear before them nightly. These witnesses embrace representatives from north Lee street, saloonkeepers and even bootblacks. Some of the depositions are regarded as important by the commissioners, and the investigation will be continued. In addition to all this the aim of the commissioners is to learn of all dereliction of duty on the part of any policeman in failing to enforce plain city and State ordinances. Another meeting will be held tonight

Mayor Paff stated today that the meeting was held in his office last night for the reason that the City Council was in session in the chamber adjoining the Mayor's office. There was, he says, no intention on the part of the commissioners to make the place of the meeting secret.

Supervisors Meet.

The board of supervisors of Alexandria county at its meeting at Alexandria Court House Saturday discussed the problem of improving the streets of Rosslyn. It was shown that aside from the main road leading south from the Aqueduct bridge, which is part of the military road maintained by the federal government, the streets are very badly out of repair or entirely unimproved. It was proposed that the property owners be requested to come to the aid of the supervisors in an effort to put the important roadways about Rosslyn in first-class condition.

After considerable discussion of this a resolution was passed calling upon Messrs. M. B. Harlow, Park Agnew, Colin H. Livingston, John Clark, and other owners of lots and buildings in Rosslyn to meet with the supervisors at the court house on April 26 to consider ways and means of making the desired improvements.

Action was also taken regarding the management of tax collections and some other routine matters.

New Fire Engine.

The commitees on public property and finance last night reported to the City Council on the proposition of the Fire Wardens for the purchase of an additional steam fire engine to cost $4,750. The committees recommended an appropriation of $3,500 for the purpose, the old engine to be accepted in part payment. The new apparatus will take the place of the old Hydraulion engine, which has outlivedits day of usefulness. The new engine will be of the Metropolitan type, will be manufactured by the American La France Company, and be of the pattern of one of the attractive engines which was sent here from Washington on the 22d of February.

He was formerly for some years manager of the Mahoneyville distillery, near this city, and had many acquaintances in Alexandria. He was the son-in-law and nephew of E. B. Sisson, proprietor of the distillery at Legato. Mr. Sisson, who was about forty years old, is survived by a widow and three children.

The Fishery.

There has been some animation at Fishtown during the past two days. Some fish have been received and cutting has been in progress. Prices showed an advancing tendency this morning, although fish from the lower river are likely to arrive at any time. It is not thought that present prices can be maintained long. Fishermen in this neighborhood are catching many white perch, black bass, etc. Wm. Sisson caught 150 bunches of white perch near Alexandria last night.

[COMMUNICATED.

The Police Board.

The following query—"Did they meet?" appeared in a Washington paper today. A rumor on the streets today is that the board met last night at———. As the board now holds meetings in places other than the City Hall and reporters are not permitted to write up the Board's doings, the citizens must engage in guessing matches. The writer guesses that the board met, marched up the hill and then marched down again, and moved to adjourn to meet at a later date.

City Council.

There was a comparatively brief meeting of the City Council last night and most of the business was transacted without debate. The official proceedings will be found elsewhere.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The board concurred by unanimous votes in the action of the Common Council on all papers sent in. Later the members repaired to the chamber of the Common Council for the purpose of participating in the election of a Superintendent of Gas, and upon their return adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The board met at 8 o'clock, thirteen members being in their seats.

The board concurred with the Aldermen in directing a survey of the city property at Fishtown and the platting of the buildings erected thereon, or contiguous thereto, with a view of determing whether the city is paid rent for all its property there.

The committees on finance and public property reported in favor of an appropriation of $3,500 to be used as a bonus in exchanging the old Hydraulion engine for a new La-France engine worth $4,750.

Mr. Spinks doubted the propriety of the expenditure at this time and suggested that the money could be used to better advantage in the construction of a new house for the fire truck.

The report was agreed to, yeas, 12; nays, Mr. Spinks.

The committees on finance and public property were authorized to advertise for bids for the sale of the old Hydraulion engine house on Royal street.

Mr. Edgar Warfield, jr., was authorized to continue the grade of the sidewalk alongside his new building on King and Pitt streets. A majority of members of each board had agreed in writing last week to allow this grade on Pitt street.

Mr. Harrison gave notice that he would move at the next meeting of the board to go into an election of a councilman from the 3rd ward vice Dr. T. B. Cochran, resigned.

On motion of Mr. Uhler it was resolved that the Aldermen be invited into joint session to elect a Superintendent of Gas.

The board then took a recess to await the coming of the Aldermen.

It was suggested that as the exemption was unconstitutional it would be well to concur.

The Chair said that it would be bad policy to strike out this provision which had been among the laws for many years.

Mr. Burke called attention to the fact that New Orleans advertised to exempt manufactories from taxation.

Mr. Bryan thought the Aldermen had better have "let the bill alone as it was first passed; but perhaps the best way now would be to concur."

The Chair,—"But would that be the best way?"

Mr. Harrison said it was all very well before the Aldermen acted, but now that they had done so, the matter took on a new aspect. Any citizen could appeal to the court and have this exemption declared null and void.

The Chair. But no citizen would do so.

Mr. Burke said that now we have a good ferry and railway service to Washington and no smoke law, &c., there was very good prospect that much of the manufacturing for Washington would be done in Alexandria if no obstacle be thrown in the way.

On motion of Mr. Bryan a committee of conference was ordered and Messrs. Bryan and Burke were appointed thereon.

A recess was taken to await the conference report.

The committee returned and reported that the conference had recommended that the Aldermen recede from their action and concur in the bill as it passed the Council.

JOINT SESSION.

The Aldermen entered the chamber and Mr. Curtin, vice president of the Board of Aldermen, announced that the boards were convened jointly to elect a Superintendent of Gas.

Mr. H. M. Hantzmon was unanimously chosen by 19 votes.

The joint convention then dissolved and the board adjourned.

Gorky.

Few travelers across the Atlantic ever received a more delirious greeting than that which was given to Maxim Gorky, Russian revolutionist and novelist, when he landed at Hoboken yesterday evening from the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. More than 1,000 of his admirers, including many Americans, and most of the prominent Russian socialists of New York blocked the pier entrance. Gorky himself seemed to be half-paralyzed with mingled delight and wonder. He had removed his hat, and those who were nearest to him stroked his hair, patted him on the back and kissed his long black cloak. Many of the women cried, and nearly all the men had moistened eyes. He seemed to be completely overcome.

During an interview he said that conditions in Russia are darker than ever. He has no belief in Dowie. He said people are starving, but saying arms. He also said, "one of the most important men in the recent course of events, of course was Witte. He is too big a subject to talk about just now. But he is devoid of talent, power and honesty, and, in our opinion, he is a scoundrel."

The Legend of the Holy Grail.

The last of the Lenten course of lectures given during the past few weeks at Loyola College, Baltimore, was delivered last evening, when Rev. William M. Stinson, S. J., spoke upon "The High History of the Holy Grail." The lecture was illustrated with views showing the various phases in the life of Sir Galla had, his early preparation for the great quest and his adventures, when, as perfect knight, he sought the treasure.

Dr. Stinson traced the legend of the Holy Grail, from the idyl of Tennyson, to the old story tellers, and put forward the opinion that it had formed a part of the folk lore of the early Christian centuries. It was, he said, the legend which set forth the value of chivalry and faith, and in discussing the version given by Tennyson he commented upon the inability of the poet to view the story from the standpoint of catholicity, and the consequent omission in his story of the spirit and meaning of the vow. To him, he said, the quest for the Grail was an evil, not good.

In discussing the value to art and literature that the story has been, Dr. Stinson commented upon the fact that in Puritan Boston the great painting in the library therein has for its subject the Catholic legend of the Holy Grail.

The lecturer referred briefly to the story of the Grail—that it is supposed to be the cup from which Christ drank at the Last Supper, which was given to Pontius Pilate and bought from the Roman by Joseph of Arimathea. It remained with his descendants, who were kings, until one—Amfortas—sinned, when it was caught away from him, and he with all his court were thrown into a stupor, from which only the coming of the perfect knight could rescue them. This Grail sought by the perfect, he said, was acknowledged to be the type of the sacrament and the symbol of life-giving presence.

In speaking of the various versions of the legend, Dr. Stinson referred to the story written by Mallory centuries ago, which, he said, in spite of its quaintness of detail, was one of the most perfect pieces of literature ever produced. Of the literary quality of the Tennyson poem he spoke in the highest terms, regretting that this poet was unable to give to the world that which he did not have, a realization of the symbolism and spiritual depth of the story; which only came with catholicity of idea and belief.

Trouble Feared.

Trouble between Americans and Italians at Weaver, a small mining town about eight miles from Elkins, W. Va., is feared as the outcome of the killing of Dominick Sandy, an Italian, by Shannon Price, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Price, who lives at Junior, visited Weaver yesterday afternoon with the intention, it is said, of killing an Italian for revenge. He found the man he was looking for at the top of the tipple at No. 2 mine and fired upon him, the first shot taking effect. As it was thought he was heavily armed no attempt was made to take the aggressor in custody, and he started for his home unpursued. The killing was the outcome of trouble between Americans and Italians, beginning about 10 days ago, when a party of the former went to Weaver and tried by force to take from the foreigners beer in their possession. In the scrap Price was slightly wounded. As the foreigners out-number the Americans 10 to 1 the latter are on their guard, though confident of taking care of themselves.

Black Hand in Baltimore.

Official announcement was received in Baltimore from Washington yesterday to the effect that Baltimore was rapidly becoming the anarchistic center of the United States. Another serious phase of the situation was the admission of Captain of Detectives Pumphrey last night that the Black Hand Society had been operating in Baltimore, and only recently several prominent Italian citizens had received threatening letters signed by the Black Hand, promising dire results if its requests for money were not complied with. Captain Pumphrey also stated that he was in possession of a number of clues and several of his men were hard at work on the case. In addition, it is known that several Italian detectives are working on the case, and it is confidently expected that several arrests will have been made before the end of the present week. While the names of those receiving the threatening letters could not be ascertained, it is understood that they are among the most prominent residents of the Italian colony of Baltimore.
